Since 1951, WMHC has been an educaiional, non-commercial radio station, operated and funded by the students of Mount Holyoke College. WMHC is responsible to the president and the Board of Trustees of Mount Holyoke College and to the Federal Communications Commission which regulates the airwaves in order to insure that the stations broadcast in the public interest. This documentary has been filmed not only to show the various aspects of WMHC as a student-run radio broadcasting network, but, most importantly, to show that WMHC has a responsibility to its listening audience.
